Remedy Interactive's WorkWell Ergonomics Software Solution Wins Top Honors at National Ergonomics Conference

SAUSALITO, CA - January 4, 2003 - Ergonomic software solution provider Remedy Interactive

(www.remedyinteractive.com), received the Attendee's Choice Award at the recently concluded National Ergonomics Conference and Exposition in Las Vegas, Nevada, the only national show that focuses exclusively on ergonomics. The record-breaking attendance of more than 1,200 ergonomics professionals, including ergonomists, industrial hygienists, facilities managers, safety managers, and human resources managers, voted Remedy Interactive's flagship software product, WorkWell, "the product that offers the best opportunity to increase productivity and profitability, while improving workplace health and safety." Over 35 companies were nominated for awards. Remedy Interactive was one of only three winners.

Remedy Interactive drives corporate performance through innovation in workplace health and safety; WorkWell helps companies leverage technology to prevent injuries and cut costs.

"Receipt of this award is particularly significant to us because it comes directly from those in the industry for whom we have designed this solution," said Kim Lopez, CEO of Remedy Interactive. "Remedy Interactive was founded on the premise that the appropriate use of technology could dramatically accelerate injury prevention and that doing so would cut costs and increase productivity. We're pleased to see our colleagues in the industry believe we not only doing that well, but that we are doing it better than anyone else."

"We congratulate Remedy Interactive and the other winners of the first annual NECE Attendees' Choice Awards. The thousand-plus ergonomics and safety professionals in attendance took the job of reviewing dozens of nominated products very seriously. These professionals decided that WorkWell would bring value to workplace productivity and safety initiatives, and voted accordingly," said Lenore Kolb, Sales & Marketing Director, Continental Exhibitions, Inc., managers and producers of the NECE.
