Remedy Interactive Enables Organizations to Jump-Start and Automate Office Injury Prevention with iMitigate

SAUSALITO, CA – August 12, 2009 – Remedy Interactive Inc., a leading provider of enterprise software solutions that help organizations prevent workplace injuries and reduce injury-related costs, today announced a new software solution for workplace managers who want to jump-start an office injury prevention program. iMitigate is web-based software that takes the guesswork out of creating and managing an injury prevention program by automating risk assessment, communication and training activities so managers can focus on other health and safety initiatives. By using iMitigate as part of an overall health and safety program, organizations can facilitate prevention of common office injuries that impair employee productivity and lead to lost work days or other injury-related costs.

“There are many employers who value employees’ health but don’t have the time or resources to develop an injury prevention program for their office employees,” said Kim Lopez, CEO of Remedy Interactive. “We developed iMitigate to give these employers an easy and efficient way to assess their employees’ risk for repetitive strain injuries and teach them how to address issues now before they turn into costly injuries later.”

With iMitigate, any person regardless of his or her health and safety expertise can facilitate enterprise-wide prevention of repetitive strain injuries without having to dedicate significant resources. iMitigate’s automated program setup and online coaching enables managers to get smarter about injury prevention and manage a program more effectively. In addition the software solution teaches managers best practices for maintaining an OSHA-compliant injury prevention program.

The software solution includes:

- Easy-to-deploy risk assessments
- Automated injury prevention communications
- Online best practices program coaching

- Standardized reporting via dashboards
- Easy integration with Human Resources and Learning Management Systems
- Email support

iMitigate is available for purchase today. For more information, visit
